Meet Simon

Baker from South Korea. Early riser. Believer in bread that smiles back. Simon comes from a family rooted in the restaurant world, where food was always about care and connection.

His Philosophy

“In Korea, fresh bread isn’t a choice — it’s a rhythm. I bake every morning because bread should never wait too long. Perfection? It shifts — with the weather, the yeast, even the mood of the kitchen. That’s what makes it human.”

He starts his day before the city does- kneading, shaping, waiting. No shortcuts. No artificial additives. Just bread that makes mornings worth waking up for.

Now part of the Bento B family, Simon’s breads carry the same belief we hold dear: food should be wholesome, comforting, and shared in its best form.

LATREIA

BENTO B

For years, the quiet craft of a Korean baker named Simon arrived at our doors each morning. Today, we are honoured to welcome him and his venture (Latreia Breads) into our kitchen.

No longer behind the scenes, he now bakes at the heart of Bento B: with memory, heritage, and a simple love for his craft. This is not just bread on our menu; it is a part of our story, made for today, every single day.

LATREIA

BENTO B

Baked each morning, served the same day
— now rising beside everything you’ve always loved here.

This isn’t just bread added to a menu. It’s comfort finding its home — in the same rhythm that makes Bento B what it is:
warm, wholesome, and a little bit human.
